SAT 15:00 World Routes (b008hzpg)

World Routes in Georgia

Svaneti polyphony and Guria yodeling

Lucy Duran continues her musical journey through Georgia.

She travels to the highest and remotest part of Europe, Svaneti.
An area of extraordinary natural beauty, it's also infamous for its banditry and war-lording, as well as being home to some of the world's oldest music. With the help of the Georgian military, the programme makes rare location recordings of these wild songs.

SAT 16:00 Jazz Library (b00gsp1p)

Terence Blanchard

In a programme recorded during the 2008 London Jazz Festival while he was visiting London with Herbie Hancock's band, trumpeter Terence Blanchard talks to Alyn Sapiro.

He discusses his work with Hancock and guides Alyn through his varied catalogue of recordings following his debut with Art Blakey.

As well as leading a string of high profile bands of his own, Blanchard has had a successful career as a film composer, in particular for Spike Lee, and he talks about his soundtracks to such films as Lee's Malcolm X and When the Levees Broke.

SAT 22:30 Hear and Now (b00gsp1y)

In a performance given at London's Barbican as part of the Stockhausen Composer Day, Robert Worby presents the BBC Symphony Orchestra in Stockhausen's meditative work Inori.

Written in 1973-74, Inori is based on prayer-like gestures interpreted on stage by a mime and a dancer. The expressive movements, performed by the two silent soloists and drawn from a variety of religious practices, are mirrored in the response of two orchestral groups.

Robert is also joined by Stockhausen authority Robin Maconie to discuss the piece.

SUN 17:00 Discovering Music (b00gsq8g)
Charles Ives

American conductor David Robertson joins the BBCSO for an exploration of the music of one of his nation's most innovative composers, Charles Ives. He considers the imaginative way Ives evokes a sense of place - in particular his homeland around Boston - and what some of the wider implications of this might be. He focuses on three Ives masterpieces: Central Park in the Dark, The Unanswered Question and Three Places in New England.

There is also a feature about a complementary project created by amateur musicians in London based on some of Ives's musical ideas.

SUN 18:30 Choir and Organ (b00gsq8j)
West Gallery Music

Aled Jones explores the revival in West Gallery music, a term first used by Thomas Hardy to describe the galleries at the west end of churches on which bands of musicians would perform. People from the end of the 17th century knew this as Psalmody, a practice which initially enabled parishioners to join in the singing of psalms. But it flourished to the point where the music was too complex for congregations to sing!

The programme's mix of music from British choirs and beyond proves that the tradition is now once again thriving.

Pornography

Pornography, by Simon Stephens.

A stark and shattering play capturing Britain as it crashes from the euphoria and promise of the 2012 Olympics announcement into the devastation of the London bombings of 7 July 2005. It follows eight people on those fateful days. They seem unremarkable lives, but each of them is touched and changed in some indelible way by the events.

Cast includes:

Frances Ashman
Loo Brealey
Sacha Dhawan
Amanda Hale
Jeff Rawle
Sheila Reid
Billy Seymour
Sam Spruell

Directed for Birmingham Rep/Traverse Theatre by Sean Holmes.

SUN 21:30 Sunday Feature (b00gsq8n)
Creating Burns's Reputation

Poet and Burns scholar Professor Robert Crawford of St Andrews University, examines how Robert Burns became a sensation at home and abroad. With contributions from Douglas Dunn, who considers the strength of Burns's verse, Professor Fiona Stafford, who discusses whether Burns was the first romantic poet and David Hopes, who asks whether Burns's image is going to be renewed again in the making of the new birthplace museum.

There is also debate on Burns's newest scholarly incarnation as a radical, and Dr Leith Davies looking at how the once very male and clubbable world of the 'Burns club' and Burns Supper now contends with new cultural fusion such as Gung Haggis Fat Choy, which melds Burns night with the Chinese New Year celebrations.

SUN 22:15 Words and Music (b00gsq8q)

In the House of God

Hugo Thurston and Pookie Quesnel read poetry and prose on the theme of places of worship including work by Philip Larkin, Emily Dickinson and Thomas Hardy, with music by Bach, Britten and Monteverdi.

SUN 23:30 Jazz Line-Up (b00gsq8s)

Julian Joseph focuses on the piano through a Neil Cowley concert at the 2008 London Jazz Festival. As a 10-year-old prodigy, Cowley performed a Shostakovich piano concerto to a full house at London's Queen Elizabeth Hall, yet he turned his back on the Royal Academy at an early age. Instead, having answered an advert in Melody Maker at 17, he entered the world of pop.

In June 2006, Cowley formed his own label, Hide Inside Records, and released his debut album, which won critical praise and Best Album at the 2007 BBC Jazz Awards.

Nielsen Symphony Cycle

Episode 3

Presented by Petroc Trelawny.

Part of a cycle of concerts featuring music by Danish composer Carl Nielsen, shared jointly by the Halle and the CBSO, with the Halle and music director Mark Elder performing the vigorous and optimistic First Symphony and the mighty Symphony No 5, seen as humanity's struggle for order over chaos, including a notable moment for the side drum. Alongside these are works by Nielsen's hero, Beethoven.

Halle Orchestra

City of Birmingham Symphony Orchestra

Mark Elder (conductor)

Beethoven: Egmont Overture, Op 84

Nielsen: Symphony No 1 in G minor, Op 7

Beethoven: Ah! Perfido, Op 65

Nielsen: Symphony No 5, Op 50

Followed by a series featuring artists associated with the Orchestra of the Age of Enlightenment, including:

Albinoni: Trio Sonata in C minor, Op 6 No 10

The Locatelli Trio.

MON 21:15 Night Waves (b00gsqc1)

Rana Mitter talks to Christopher Frayling, outgoing chair of Arts Council England, to get his assessment of the state of the country's cultural sector five years after he started the job. How prepared are the heavily subsidised arts for the tough economic times ahead?

American controversialist Jonah Goldberg claims in a new book that it is no coincidence that Franklin D Roosevelt and Adolf Hitler both came to power in 1933. He discusses with Rana's guests the idea that traditional liberals share many of the same repressive instincts as those of the fascist right.

Plus a review of Revolutionary Road, the keenly anticipated new film from husband-and-wife team director Sam Mendes and actress Kate Winslet. Winslet has already won widespread praise and a Golden Globe award for her performance as a frustrated 1950s suburban housewife.

Steve Williamson, Roy Campbell, Roger Turner and Pat Thomas

Jez Nelson presents a concert by four pioneers of free jazz and improvisation. Saxophonist Steve Williamson, drummer Roger Turner, keyboard player Pat Thomas and trumpeter Roy Campbell play together for the first time as part of the 2008 London Jazz Festival.

Williamson, Turner and Thomas are stalwarts of the British avant-garde music scene, while Campbell is based in New York and has collaborated with David Murray, Sun Ra, Cecil Taylor and John Zorn.

TUE 19:00 Performance on 3 (b00gssbj)

Petroc Trelawny presents a recital given at London's Royal Festival Hall by celebrated pianist Stephen Hough. Noted for his virtuosic yet thoughtful approach to performance, he combines works from different ages and continents.

Hough opens with his own take on Alfred Cortot's transcription of the Bach D minor Toccata and Fugue, which is followed by a selection of works by Faure, Franck and Copland, ending with Chopin's epic Sonata.

Stephen Hough (piano)

Bach/Cortot/Hough: Toccata and Fugue in D minor
Faure: Nocturne No 6, Op 63; Impromptu No 5, Op 102;
Barcarolle No 5, Op 66
Franck: Prelude, Chorale and Fugue
Copland: Piano Variations
Chopin: Nocturne in B, Op 62, No 1; Sonata in B minor, Op 58

Followed by a series featuring artists associated with the Orchestra of the Age of Enlightenment, including:

Haydn: String Quartet in A, Op 9, No 6
London Haydn Quartet.

TUE 21:15 Night Waves (b00gstk6)

Philip Dodd has an extended conversation with Tariq Ramadan, one of Europe's leading Muslim thinkers. Ramadan is an influential advocate of reforming Islam within Western society, so that, he claims, his fellow Muslims can participate more fully in the society around them. Philip talks to him about his ideas and the intellectual journey by which he has come to these conclusions.

WED 19:00 Performance on 3 (b00gssbv)

Hoyland, Strauss

Wed, 28 Jan 2009 - Part 1

Presented by Petroc Trelawny.

American conductor Andrew Litton returns to London to direct the BBC Symphony Orchestra in a performance from the Barbican. Soprano Soile Isokowski sings a selection of Strauss songs with orchestral accompaniment, following the premiere of a BBC commission, Phoenix, by Yorkshire-born composer Vic Hoyland.

Soile Isokowski (soprano)

Andrew Litton (conductor)

Vic Hoyland: Phoenix (BBC commission: world premiere)
Strauss: Hymne an die Liebe; Das Rosenband; Die heiligen drei Konige; Morgen; Cacilie.

WED 20:10 Twenty Minutes (b00cxmf1)

Final Exposure

Journalist Christine Finn explores the private world of late

British landscape photographer Fay Godwin, who left London in 1995 and moved permanently to the family's former holiday home in a remote, secret location on the Sussex coast. Godwin found a new direction for her work and introduced colour for the first time.

After her death in 2005, Godwin's family offered her considerable archive to the British Library. Finn, the first journalist to be allowed to visit, was shown round Godwin's home by her friend film-maker Maggie Taylor, gaining an insight into the power of the place that inspired Godwin.

WED 20:30 Performance on 3 (b00h3kb3)

Hoyland, Strauss

Wed, 28 Jan 2009 - Part 2

Petroc Trelawny presents the conclusion of the BBC SO's Barbican concert. Strauss: Ein Heldenleben. Soile Isokowski (soprano), BBC Symphony Orchestra/Andrew Litton.

WED 21:15 Night Waves (b00gstkb)

Anne McElvoy talks to psychotherapist Susie Orbach about our growing obsession with body image, and how those western body obsessions are spreading across the globe, from the boom in cosmetic surgery in Iran to reconstructive surgery in China. Orbach has written and campaigned on issues of women's attitudes to food and health since the 1970s and is most famous for having written the book Fat is a Feminist Issue.

Richard Coles reviews the UK premiere of the rediscovered work Die tote Stadt, which opens at the Royal Opera. Written by Hollywood film composer Erich Korngold, this previously neglected opera from 1920 was penned before Korngold left Austria for America.

WED 22:00 Composer of the Week (b00gstzc)

THU 19:00 Performance on 3 (b00gssc3)
Presented by Petroc Trelawny.

Baroque music from Germany forms the focus of this concert given by the Orchestra of the Age of Enlightenment, with violinist Rachel Podger at the helm.

A Bach cantata is the centrepiece of the programme, which concludes with his Concerto in D for three violins. The companion works are by Telemann and Jan Dismas Zelenka, a composer who worked at the court in Dresden, and who was greatly admired by Bach. Vivaldi also features - in an arrangement by another Dresden-based composer, Pisendel.

Rachel Nicholls (soprano)
Orchestra of the Age of Enlightenment
Rachel Podger (director/violin)

Telemann: Overture in E minor (Tafelmusik)
Vivaldi, attrib. Pisendel: Concerto in D for two violins, two oboes and bassoon, RV 564a
Bach: Cantata No 51 (Jauchzet Gott in allen Landen)
Zelenka: Hypochondrie
Telemann: Cantata, Ertrage nur joch der Mangel (Harmonische Gottesdienst)
Bach: Concerto in D for three violins (Concerto in C for three harpsichords, BWV 1064)

Followed by a series featuring artists associated with the Orchestra of the Age of Enlightenment, including:

Marin Marais: Les folies d'Espagne Purcell Quartet.

THU 21:15 Night Waves (b00gstkj)
Matthew Sweet is joined by guests for a discussion of books, films, arts events and other developments in the cultural world that have global resonance.

The panel discuss the Israeli film Waltz with Bashir, winner of a Golden Globe award, and a new biography of Charles Darwin published to coincide with the bicentenary of his birth. Plus a debate on the effectiveness, or absurdity, of English-speaking actors adopting foreign accents in films set in other countries.

FRI 12:00 Composer of the Week (b00gstzh)
Felix Mendelssohn (1809-1847)

The Eclipse of Music

The musical world described Mendelssohn's death as 'the eclipse of music', yet the posthumous attitude to his work has often been derogatory. Donald Macleod charts the composer's final years, from the death of his beloved sister, Fanny, to his own in 1847 and his remarkable legacy, exemplified by his Violin Concerto in E minor.

Part of Radio 3's Composers of the Year 2009 season.

FRI 21:15 The Verb (b00gstq)

Ian McMillan presents the weekly programme about language.

Including:

Speech Debelle
Rapper and singer Speech Debelle performs her unique brand of music live in the studio. Her voice is warm, youthful and light but you'd be mistaken to think her lyrics were equally so. She speaks with Ian about the personal inspiration for her songs and her love for rhyme.

Peter Porter

Ian interviews Peter Porter who arrived in the UK from Australia fifty years ago and considers himself part of the present-day poetical worlds of both nations. In his 80th year Porter has just published his 18th collection of poetry entitled 'Better Than God'. He delights us with readings from the book.

Alaskan writers

On the 50th anniversary of Alaska becoming the 49th state of America, Ian speaks with Alaskan-based writers, Rich Chiappone, author of 'Water of an Undetermined Depth' and Ronald Spatz, editor of the Alaska Quarterly Review about the literature of those wild and remote lands. We also hear a reading of Rich Chiappone's comic short story 'Ladies' Hockey'.
